News in the Philippines

PH GDP Growing 6.7-6.9% in 2017

- According to chief economist, Sec. Ernesto M. Pernia of the National Economic and Development Authority (NEDA), the country's growth during the fourth quarter is faster than the posted average growth rate in the last 9 months. At this rate, it is seen that the country will grow past 7% with the government's "Build, Build, Build" program. Sec. Pernia shares that we are likely to hit the targeted 6.7-7.5%, with the full-year gross domestic product (GDP) settling between 6.7-6.9%. Increased government spending, sustained growth in exports, robust consumer spending, and recovery in the agricultural sector combined will boost the Q4 GDP.
